

accessible video transcript

The Value of Maker Clubs

The last thing I want to say about the makers club is I just know what a difference it made for our kids and their families.

So many of the parents thanked me at the end of the club for having the space for their kid where they felt so comfortable, so, so creative, to have...Our club was after school. And I think to know that there was an after school club for for their kids where they could do something of their interests and be supported. And I just think it was such a beautiful experience for all of us.

And even though it may be scary to start, I think it's something that if I can do it, I'm an ELA teacher, I think anybody, anybody can do it.